

UPSKILLING • GY SKILL

Not a designer or a dev — do you still need a portfolio?

Yes. Proof beats a promise, in any field. Here's what to show 🙌

Case study
one page

A dashboard or sheet

Swipe to build it →

TURN WORK INTO PROOF

You already have the raw material.

One-page case study

A project: problem → what you did → result.

A tidy artefact

A clean spreadsheet, dashboard, or deck.

A short write-up

A problem you solved, in 200 words.

3 work samples

Your best 3 — quality over quantity.

One real example > a page of adjectives about yourself.

WHERE TO PUT IT

One clean link does the work.

ON YOUR RESUME & LINKEDIN

 notion.so/your-work

A free Notion or Google Doc link — public, tidy, one click. Beats “references available on request”.

 Recruiters won't chase attachments. A link they can open in 2 seconds, they will.

WHAT EACH ROLE CAN SHOW

No 'portfolio job' required.

Marketing a campaign teardown

Ops a process you improved

Sales a mock pitch / call script

Content 3 writing samples

Data one analysis, start to finish

 Pick the one closest to your target role and go deep on it.

SHOW, DON'T TELL

Proof beats promises.

- 1 One-page case study
- 2 A clean artefact
- 3 A short write-up
- 4 Your best 3 samples
- 5 One public link
